

Just for Kids

Sensory, movement and/or communication difficulties can affect a child's ability to learn, develop age-appropriate skills and enjoy the normal activities of life. Wolfson Children's Rehabilitation's focus is addressing these disorders among children – and only children – to help shape futures that are bright and promising.

Wolfson Rehabilitation offers comprehensive therapy – physical, occupational and speech – for children of all ages. Our experienced therapists provide care planning and treatment tailored to each child's specific needs.

The staff encourages parent and family participation, providing them with the necessary information to be successful in supporting their child's continued development and recovery.

Therapy initiated in Wolfson Children's Hospital can easily be continued with no interruption following discharge at any one of our conveniently located outpatient clinics.

Shaping skills for life.
For children.
It's all we do.

Wolfson Rehabilitation's most frequently treated childhood conditions include:

Developmental Delay • Prematurity • Autism • Chronic Medical Conditions • Neurological Disorders • Traumatic Brain Injuries • Genetic Disorders • Neuromuscular Disorders • Sensory Integration Dysfunction • Orthopaedic Injuries • Musculoskeletal Conditions • Juvenile Arthritis • Vocal Pathologies • Cleft Palate • Apraxia • Hearing Impairments